WBP SI Topper List - Selection Process

The West Bengal Police SI Selection Process consists of five stages: Preliminary Examination, Physical Measurement Test (PMT), Physical Efficiency Test (PET), Final Combined Competitive Examination, and Personality Test. Details of the same are explained further:

Preliminary Examination

You must qualify the exam to be eligible for the next stage of the selection process. It is an objective-type exam. Details of the same are as follows:

- The preliminary exam features 100 questions, divided into 3 sections: General studies, Logical & Analytical reasoning, and Arithmetic.
- This exam comprises 200 marks in total with a duration of 90 minutes.
- Each correct answer is worth 2 marks while every incorrect answer will be penalized 1/4th mark.

Physical Efficiency Test/Physical Measurement Test

The WBP SI Physical Test includes the following stages:

- Physical Measurement Test: To assess physical parameters such as the candidate's height, weight, and chest measurement as per the prescribed standards.
- Physical Efficiency Test: At this stage, the authorities assess the physical endurance of candidates. The aspirants are required to finish running a particular distance in the stipulated time. These parameters are different for males and females.

Final Combined Competitive Examination

As per the WB Police SI selection process, the applicants who qualify for the PMT and PET are required to appear for the Final Combined Competitive Examination. The WBP SI exam pattern is given below:

Paper I:

- Subjects: General Studies & Arithmetic
- Marks: 100
- Duration: 2 hours
